have been some complaints regarding quality of coal supplies which mainly relate to high ash content, ad-mixture of stones, shales and other extraneous materials. The following steps are being adopted by coal companies to ensure the supply of quality coal to the consumers;—

(i) Segregation of stones at the time of loading coal;

(ii) In Coal Handling Plants, slow moving picking belts are provided for picking up of shales and stone pieces;

(iii) Maintenance of sufficient stock at the siding so that picking can be ensured before loading;

(iv) Ensuring better supervision to maintain quality control, and developing quality consciousness among workers, supervisors and executives engaged at Railway sidings;

(v) Steps are also being introduced in the washeries for improving quality as per the recommendations of Altekar Committee for supply of washed coking coal of 17 plus minus 0.5 per cent ash content to steel plants.
